Individual and Peer Reviewing and Revising

- Learn and share strategies for reviewing and revising one’s own work successfully
- Compare and contrast situations in which papers are best revised by the peer vs the self-reviewing process
- View models of peer review questions and exchanges
- Collaborate to learn how to best use reviewing and revising to move toward conference presentations and publications

Monday
November 18
2:00 – 3:00 pm
IT LAB
Science building
3rd floor, room 143

By Katie Raddatz, Melissa Macero and Lorena Fuentes

✅ Lorena is a faculty in the ESL center and a tutor at the Graduate Writing Center,
✅ Katie is a faculty in the Critical Thinking program and a tutor at the Graduate Writing Center
✅ Melissa is a graduate student and instructor in the English department and a tutor at the Reading, Writing and Study Strategies Center